

1

An inexperienced person can log in with the necessary credentials and verify their details through this system. That person can search for a position through search box or through a chat bot.

2

A complete website to search or show jobs based on the skills and interest. It contains both the data of the company and the user. Whenever there is a vacancy a notification message will alert the job seeker to apply for it.

3

A tool used by the college to find right carrier for their students based on their interest and based on their domain. Easy for the students to apply for their dream job and will never miss an opportunity of attending any company with help of reminders and notification alert.